LOSS GREATER THAN IN ANY MODERN BATTLE

WAR CHIEFS ADMIT THAT FIGURES ARE SO STUPENDOUS AS TO MEAN VERY LITTLE.

FRENCH ARE ON OFFENSIVE

At Some Points Defense of Allies is Broken, Only to be Restored by Reinforcements.

GERMANS WITHSTAND FIRE

At Other Points Kaiser's Infantry
Falls Back Crushed But Not Defeated by Any Means.

FOOTHOLD IN LORRAINE

Germans Occupy Lunéville and Nancy is in Danger—Are Back in Pont A Moisson.

Paris, August 24.—The battle line is increasing in length. The war office in an official statement issued at 2:50 this afternoon states that the French are now assuming the offensive.
The announcement says that "the battle is raging from Moselle to Mons. The French are continuing on the offensive."

At some points the defense of the allies had been partly wrecked only to be restored by rushing reinforcements on in desperate haste. At others the German infantry, unable to penetrate the withering hail of explosive shells and the fire of the thousands of machine guns already in action, had fallen back crushed
but not defeated.

The carnage has been fearful. The chiefs of the war office calmly say in terse language that the dead and wounded already outnumber those of any battle in modern times. Figures, they admit, are so stupendous as to mean very little. Three great German armies, the bulwark of the kaiser's war machine are advancing steadily in a determined attempt to break the allied line and penetrate French territory. Behind them are reserves to the extent of more than a million men. But up to the present time the allied lines have held and the war office bulletin characterizes the general situation as "satisfactory."

The German army operating in Lorraine has gained a foothold in the department of Muerthe Et. Moselle, Lunéville has been occupied. Nancy is in danger. One report says it has already been occupied but this the war office denies. Germans driven from Pont A Moisson on Saturday
re-occupied the town on Sunday.

That the French-English battle line is holding, although surging against it is the weight of the entire German army, was the official statement issued by the War Office today. The situation has changed overnight in that the War Office no longer declared the allies were on the offensive. It is accepted here that the offensive movement undertaken to determine the exact strength of the attacking force which was engaged along the entire frontier from Mons to Lunenburg, demonstrated this attack was not a feint but that the German offensive

WILL CONFINE IT TO EAST

Japan Notifies Washington She Will Stay in Own Territory.

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 24.—Japan has officially notified the United States that she will confine her activities
in the war situation to the far east,
was the statement this afternoon
from Secretary of State Bryan
following close upon the erroneous information given today by mistake by President Wilson that such a pledge was not known to him.

CLAIMS THEY HOLD EASTERN PRUSSIA

Commander of Russian Advance in That Territory Says German Corps Was Cut to Pieces.

(By United Press.)

St. Petersburg, August 24.—The official report of General Renneka who is in command of the Russian advance in East Prussia, claims that the greater part of eastern Prussia is now dominated by the Russians. He says:

"We held the railroads and have captured Cumbinnen, in Sturburg, Ortleburg and Johannisburg. The 20th German army corps which bore the brunt of our attack, was practically out to pieces. We have taken several thousand prisoners in addition to the guns already reported."

The General staff today stated that the Russians operating against the Austrians have followed up their initial victories with further success.

It stated that the Russian cavalry sent to meet the Austrians who have attacking Vladimir-Volinsk routed them with heavy loss. On Saturday the announcement says nine Russian squadrons attacked a force of more than twice their number near the station of Pluchow. In the battle that followed the Austrians were defeated and the Russians took two mounted batteries and 160 prisoners.

MAKES PROTEST TO CHINA

Germany Complains That She Has Been Aiding Japan.

(By United Press.)

Pekin, Aug. 24.—Germany has protested to China that the Republic has been aiding Japan in the far eastern trouble and violating the rules of neutrality. China replied to this that the warlike naval operations of the Germans in the Orient has been calculated to violate the principles of the agreement whereby the Chinese government leased Kiso
Chau to the Kaiser.

BREAK THE FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

Germans Cause Part of Allied Army to Withdraw to Original Position
on French Frontier.

ADMITTED BY WAR OFFICE

Position of Germans in Prussia is Serious Because of Preponderance of Russian Army.

(By United Press.)
London, August 24.—The official press bureau this afternoon issued a statement announcing that the first line of the allied defense had been broken by the Germans, necessitating a withdrawal of a portion of the allied forces to the original position on the French frontier. It was explained that this withdrawal was in accordance with the original plan and was "purely for strategic reasons."

The location of the British overseas expedition was revealed by the war office today which admitted that these troops have been in battle since Sunday. The official announcement said:

"The British expeditionary forces have been engaged with the enemy in the neighborhood of Mons, Belgium since early on Sunday. The British lines are holding."

That the situation so far as Germany is concerned is serious is shown by the reports from St. Petersburg. The Russian army, gaining strength as it moves forward is overwhelming the Germans in eastern Prussia. The total German force available for the defense of Prussia is said to be about 500,000 men while moving against them are nearly one million Russians. The German oriental plans are believed here to have provided for real assistance from Austrians but latest advices received here say the complete mobilization of the Austrian army was delayed and that all available Austrians are now being rushed to attempt to check the Russian invasion of Lemburg.

Even though Germany is able to win a notable success and to push on to the French frontier similitary experts here say she will be forced upon to detach a part of her vast army now operating against the allies in Belgium and on the French Lorraine frontier and send it east to cope with the Russians. The enthusiasm of the Russian field forces is declared to be wonderful in the various accounts reaching here from St. Petersburg.
The feeling against Germany has been fostered by the Russian commanders and from Grand Duke Misholas down the belief is declared to be certain that the Russian army will get to Berlin.

It is at this time that she is alleged to have come to this city. Mr.
Naden alleges that she falsely and fraudulently represented herself to
him and asks that the pretended
marriage be annulled.

It will be recalled that Mrs. Naden
filed suit for divorce from him some time ago alleging cruel and inhuman
treatment and demanding alimony in the sum of $1,500. The outcome of the cases is watched with interest because, if the statements in Naden's
complaint are true, she was never
legally married to him.

WILL ASK SURRENDER

Japan to Make Formal Request of Germany Before Fighting.

Tokio, Aug. 24.—Japan will not begin offensive operations against Kiao Chou until a note has been sent to the German governor of the province urging him to surrender. This announcement was made here today.

AYS HIS WIFE IS A BIGAMIST

James E. Naden Makes Sensational Charge in Suit Brought to Annul His Marriage

SAYS SHE WAS NOT DIVORCED

He Declares he Made Diligent Inquiry at Time of Marriage and Believed Her to be Single.

One of the most sensational suits ever filed in the Rush circuit court was filed late Saturday evening by Attorneys Young and Young, representing James E. Naden, in an action against Naden's wife, Harriet Naden, asking that their marriage be annulled.
The charge against Mrs. Naden is a serious one as he accuses her of being a bigamist.

The complaint states that at the time of their marriage, Mrs. Naden was not a single woman, having failed to obtain a divorce from her husband, John R. Wainscott of Sadie-ville, Scott county, Kentucky. The complaint states that up until 1910
the defendant was a resident of Scott county, Kentucky, and together with her uncle, came to this city.

Mr. Naden states that she represented herself to be a single woman, having been granted a divorce from her first husband. He states that as his first wife had died, he was free to marry again, and began keeping company with her. The plaintiff states that he made diligent inquiry as to her former marriage and fully believed that she had obtained a divorce. They were married January 3, 1901. They continued to live together until August 10, 1914 at which time Mr. Naden says that he discovered that she was not a single woman at the time he married her,
and was still the wife of John Wainscott.

The complaint is in two paragraphs. The second paragraph declares that on August 10, 1914, at which time they separated he discovered that she had applied for a divorce from Wainscott in the circuit court at Georgetown, Ky., which is the county seat of Scott county.
The complaint for divorce, according to the plaintiff, was filed in the month of September 1900. Mr. Naden states that the records of this court show that Mrs. Naden dismissed the action in October, 1900.

It is at this time that she is alleged to have come to this city. Mr.
Naden alleges that she falsely and
fraudulently represented herself to
him and asks that the pretended
marriage be annulled.

It will be recalled that Mrs. Naden
filed suit for divorce from him some
time ago alleging cruel and inhuman
treatment and demanding alimony in
the sum of $1,500. The outcome of the cases is watched with interest be-
cause, if the statements in Naden's
complaint are true, she was never
legally married to him.

RAIN WILL BE BOON TO FAIR ON THE WAY HOME

If it Will Just Stop by Tomorrow
Morning, it Will Make Exhibit
Greater, it is Believed

READY FOR OPENING TUESDAY

Governor Will Speak in Afternoon
Following Parade of Children,
Teachers and Veterans.

"If this rain continues until early in the morning and then stops for the rest of the week, it will make the best fair Rush county ever had."

This statement by a Rushville man fairly states the conditions as pertaining to the Rush county fair which opens tomorrow. There was a drenching rain last night, which was a boon to the racing fraternity, and rain fell the greater part of the morning. The weather indications are for a clear day tomorrow so that the wish of persons interested in the fair may be gratified.

The fair ground is loaded down with concessions. Prospects of this feature of the fair being greater than ever before are revealed by a walk about the grounds. There isn't any doubt but that the night fair is the thing that brought many more shows and stands here this year.

The fair will formally open tomorrow. Admission will be charged at the gate for everyone except children and old soldiers the first day.
Governor Ralston will arrive here in the morning and take dinner on the grounds. He will hold an informal reception at the homecomers tent
just east of the secretary's office at 12:30 o'clock. Members of the reception committee who were recently appointed are urged to be at the tent
by that time.

A parade of school teachers, children and war veterans is scheduled to precede the address by Governor

Ralston. Following his address for the governor's benefit, a parade of all stock entered at the fair and automobiles will pass in review by the grand stand. Then there will be a baseball game between teams representing the Main Street Christian and the St. Paul M. E. Sunday schools of this city. The night attraction will be a band concert by the Shelbyville band of twenty-eight pieces. Accompanying the band is a vocal soloist, as well as instrumental solists and brass quartets.

Everything is in readiness for the night fair. The wiring for lighting the grounds was completed today.
Family, exhibitor's and special tickets will admit the holders to both the day and night fair. The single admission fee will be twenty-five cents as it always has been. There will be no increase at night.

The fair management hopes to make every day a big day this year.
Wednesday morning in the small ring
prizes will be awarded in beef cattle, draft horses, jacks and mules, farm teams, table luxuries, poultry, farm implements and vehicles and ladies fancy and handwork and fine arts.

Much stress is being laid on the mule race for Wednesday afternoon.
There are number of entries and the event promises to furnish a lot of good sport.

The usual race program will be followed Wednesday afternoon. There will be a 2:30 pace, a 2:27 trot and a county road trot. The rains last night and today were the best thing that could happen for the track. It was hard and rough and would not yield to rolling. The rain softened the surface so that it can be made

Party of Women, Including Three Rushville School Teachers, Sail
From Naples Saturday.

CABLEGRAM IS RECEIVED

Because of War They Are Unable to Continue to Their Trip Through Switzerland and France.

The party of Indiana tourists with whom Miss Henrietta Coleman, Miss Helen Scott and Miss Genevieve
Brown, Rushville school teachers,
sailed from New York for Glasgow, Scotland, June 20th, is now on the way home, having sailed from Naples, Italy, Saturday evening.

A cablegram announcing that they would sail Saturday evening was received late Saturday by Dr. Will S.
Coleman, brother of Miss Coleman,
and he notified relatives of all members of the party.

A certain feeling of relief was apparent here when it was finally known that the girls were safe and on their road home. Only one small bit of news was received from them after the war broke out. At that time they were in Florence, Italy.
While there Miss Scott cabled her mother, Mrs. Sue Scott, of Clinton, Ind., for funds, August 11.

A number of letters and cards were received from the girls after they were in Italy. Most of them were mailed just before the war began, but last Friday a card and a letter was received. They were both mailed at Florence, Italy, and dated August 2.
Although the war was then under way,
the news had not evidently reached the girls as they did not mention it.

Yesterday Dr. Coleman received a telegram from the state department saying that a Mrs. Bird had sailed from Liverpool, August, 15. This was in reply to a letter written to the state department by Dr. Coleman asking the department to locate the girls. Dr. Coleman gave the names of the members of the party, but did not know Mrs. Bird's first name. The confusion arose because of the lack of her first name. The telegram said that Mrs. Bird sailed and that it was presumed the other members of the party were with her.

Because of the war, the party was unable to continue its tour through Switzerland and France. But for the interruption, they would have visited the chief points of interest in these two countries and sailed from Liverpool,
August 22, last Saturday.

Besides the three Rushville school teachers, there were in the party
Mrs. V. P. Bird of Greensburg, Miss Carrie Ong, of Columbus, and Miss Zuella Raber of Wolecottsville, Ind., a sister of O. L. Raber who taught science in the high school here last year.

It is not expected that the girls will arrive in New York inside of two weeks.

SHOWS NEED OF FARM ACCURACY JUST LOOK WHAT IS COMING TO YOU

Records on Cost of Feeding Animals
Best Method is Revealed by Some Experiments

ARE MADE ON 24 IOWA FARMS

Are Kept Carefully for Two Years and Reported in Farmers' Bulletin Just Issued

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Washington, Aug. 24.—The importance of keeping accurate farm records of the cost of feeding animals is shown in reports giving the profits from feeding on 24 Iowa farms.

These records, which were made on the corn belt farms of men known to be careful and experienced feeders were kept carefully for two years. The results as reported in Farmers' Bulletin No 588, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, are as follows:

To determine as accurately as possible the cost of feeding farm animals cost-accounting records were kept for two years on 24 Iowa farms. The men selected were leading farmers in their communities, known to be careful and experienced feeders. (During the feeding year beginning with the fall of 1909 the average profit on 961 cattle fed in 22 bunches was $2.05 per head, in addition to the profits on the hogs following them. The prices received were very satisfactory. The 1,504 hogs following these steers were given extra grain. Market prices in the spring of 1910 were such that a profit of $0.67 per hog was secured, thus giving a profit of $12.49 per steer when the pork was credited to the steers.)

The following feeding year, 1910-11, proved unsatisfactory, due to prices which caused a loss of 78 cents per head on 1,138 cattle that were fed on 28 farms. The 1,646 hogs following these steers returned an average profit of $3.33, or, when the profit on the hogs was credited to the steers, the net profit was $4.04 per steer.

Until systems of cost accounting which took into account all the overhead charges as well as the main cost were used, the expense of feeding was underestimated. The following table shows the proportionate cost of different items, based on the cost-accounting records kept on the 24 Iowa farms. These figures will vary somewhat from year to year as the relative prices of cattle and feeds change. The greatest variation will occur in the original cost of the cattle and in the cost of the feeds.

The difference between the purchase price and the selling price of an animal is called the margin of profit. This is usually estimated on the basis of 100 pounds live weight. Thus a margin of $1.50 means that the feeder received $1.50 per hundred weight more for the animals than he paid for them. The amount of margin is a very important factor in the profit from feeding steers. The margin required to break even in feeding operations depends upon a number of factors, the principal ones being (1) the purchase price, (2) the weight of the cattle purchased, (3) the value of the feeds used, (4) the gain in weight made by the animals, and (5) the length of the feeding period. The higher the purchase price, the heavier the steer when purchased, the cheaper the feeds, the greater the daily gains, and the shorter the feeding period, the smaller the margin may be between the purchase price and the selling price of the cattle, without loss to the feeder. With a steer of poor quality and with high-priced feeds, the margin must of necessity be great, but with the best quality of steers and with cheap feeds the necessary margin may be very small.

The Rev. Mr. Hicks Has Doped Out a Line of Weather For September Which is Terrible.

DISTURBANCES EVERYWHERE

Then, Too, There Are Some of Those Usual Reactionary Storms and Culminating Crises.

The weather has been jumbled up this summer, with August in June and September in July and a mixture that was altogether puzzling to poor humanity, that the prediction of Rev. Hicks for September was awaited with interest. Just read what is coming to you:

A regular storm period beginning in August will reach its culminating crises in central to eastern states on September 1, 2 and 3, followed closely to the Atlantic ocean by rising barometer and change to colder weather.

A reactionary storm period has its central days on the 4th, 5th and 6th. This period finds the full moon on both the ecliptic and the equator, hence there is an eclipse on the moon on the 4th.

Disturbances will threaten all through the latter part of August, reaching dangerous culminations at this and other September periods. Great electrical storms and much kindred phenomena will center on and about the 5th. For many hours, if not days, the true and trusty barometer will give warning from the southern gulf and sea of West India disturbances heading northward toward our southern coast regions.

A regular storm period is central on the 11th, only one day from the center of a mercury period center on the 12th. It must also be remembered that the annual, autumnal crisis of magnetic and electrical unrest falls from about the 8th to the 15th of September.

Very general, wide-reaching and intense storm disturbances will appear from about Thursday, the 10th, to Monday, the 14th. Auroral displays in the north sky, with phenomenal manifestation and over-charge of electrical and magnetic forces, on all instruments and appliances which are subject to such influences.

After low barometer, rain, high wind and thunder, on and touching the 11th to 14th, look for a general change to cooler weather, followed by probable frosts over many sections northward, say from about the 13th to the 16th.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 17th, 18th and 19th. This period, also, has a critical outlook in the fact that new moon on the 19th is within a day or two of the center of autumnal equinox, with the moon on the celestial equator. The chances are that a series of storms and other disturbances will set in at this time which will continue forward into the next storm period.

A regular storm period falls at the crisis of Earth's September equinox, being central on the 22d, and extending from the 20th to the 25th. If the barometer does not rise very decidedly about the 20th, with sharp change, and stiff westerly winds, expect many active storms during the 21st, 22d, 23d and 24th. This is a period when dangerous equinoctial disturbances are liable to visit many parts of the globe—land and sea—especially both the Atlantic and Pacific coast regions of the southward.

These storms promise danger on the great lakes and the north Atlantic seas—also unusual storms on the Pacific ocean and coasts. As a sequel to these storms, look for an early dash of very cool weather to spread from the northwest, south-easterly over almost the entire country. We figure that premature and heavy frosts will reach far into the central, if not into southern regions, after these storms have spent their force and as the high barometer swoops down out of the northwest.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 27th, 28th and 29th. On and about these dates, threatening conditions ensue, with more or less storms and storminess moving from west to east across the country. September will go out with clearing and much cooler weather moving eastward from the northwest.

From the 1st to the 7th, central on the 4th, is a very marked seismic and tidal wave period. Volcanic eruptions will result in regions subject thereto.

GERMAN INVADERS ARE DRIVEN BACK

Paris War Office Says Russians Invest Soldau After Taking Klawau From Kaiser's Troops.

RUSSIAN LINE OF 100 MILES

(By United Press.)

Paris, Aug. 24.—It is officially announced by the war office that the German force that invaded Russia and was reported to have occupied Kawa, has been driven back by the Russians and that the latter are now investigating Soldau. Soldau is 100 miles south and 12 miles east of Konigsburg and this latter movement is believed to indicate that the Russians advancing army of invasion extends along a front of nearly 100 miles. The Germans are also reported in the official bulletin to have evacuated Villenburg.

NEXT ONE AT NORTH VERNON

Local District Session of Missionary Society Comes to End.

The Chicago and Indianapolis district of the Woman's Home Missionary Society which was held in the Second M. E. church in East Eighth street came to a close Saturday noon. The convention lasted three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Business sessions were held each day, and the guests were delightfully entertained at night. There were thirty-five delegates from out of the city that attended, and many visitors were also present. The guests were entertained at the houses of the members of the society in this city. Many of the visitors stayed over for the Rally which was held yesterday. The next meeting will be held in North Vernon the latter part of August, 1915.

THREE WERE FINED.

Sherman French, Frank Moore and William "Nig" Bennett appeared before Mayor Beabout this morning on charges of public intoxication. All three entered pleas of guilty and were fined one dollar and costs. Moore and Bennett made arrangements to stay their fines while French went to jail for eleven days.

fensive movement was complete. The inevitable result was a falling back on the first line of trenches where the battle is now being fought. The first official statement said:

"The big battle continues. The French and English forces are now holding back the entire German army."

Every report from the front agrees that the fighting is of the most desperate character. The result will not be discernable for days. And the war experts point out, while it will be temporarily decisive for the Germans in that if routed they will be in grave danger of having their column split squarely in two, if forced to retreat the allies will only have to fall back on a second already entrenched position.

The seriousness of the fighting however, is not denied, although no official announcement has been made regarding the death toll. War experts looking after this, however, admit that, in this, the first real battle of the war will exceed any in the history of warfare.

The war office also added that the Servians are pursuing the defeated Austrians from Yodar and Shabatz and announced the capture of Loznitz and Lechitz.

The real line of battle today resembles the letter Z. The upper line starts at Audenarde and goes east to Brussels. The middle stroke runs southwest from Brussels to Mons and the bottom line extends east from Mons to Namur. The heaviest fighting is in the angle half way between Brussels southwest to Mons and east of Charleroi. Germans from the north and from the east are being hurled against the allied line seeking to break through by sheer weight of numbers. The German army from Luxembourg has pushed through the heavily wooded and almost impassable territory to reinforce the army of the north which began its attack on Namur last Friday.

The admission that the English army has been thrown into the defense line is accepted as indicating that there is real danger of the line being penetrated by the Germans who are apparently following out their original plan of campaign with Lille as the chief object.

To check the assault the French are depending on their splendid artillery and marine guns which have already proven wonderfully effective. So far as the strategical edge is concerned the war office says it rests with the French and British. The line of battle was selected by General Joffre the French commander-in-chief and his plans had the complete approval of Sir John French, the British commander.

Just how desperate the present battle is considered is best indicated by the activity of the medical corps. It has requisitioned a score of buildings and has fitted them up as emergency hospitals and has hospital trains all equipped with engines attached, located at points where they can be rushed to the junctions nearest the scene of battle to load the wounded and carry them to the hospitals.

All of the rolling stock of the Belgian railways has been brought into France in order to prevent its capture by the Germans.

TWO-YEAR-OLD BOY DIES.

John Walker Rigsby, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rigsby, died yesterday at their home in North Arthur street. The little boy had been ill for some time and death was due to tubercular trouble. Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother and one sister. The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at ten-thirty o'clock at the Wesleyan chapel near Arlington and burial will take place in the cemetery there.

BOY BREAKS ARM.

Howard Wissing, the ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wissing, living two miles north of Manilla, met with a very painful accident Saturday, when he suffered a broken arm. Young Wissing was endeavoring to unhitch a horse from a buggy and was not tall enough to reach the lines, so climbed out on the shafts and the horse stepped out of them, causing him to fall. The right arm was broken above the elbow.

The fourth quarterly conference of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will be held in the lecture room of the church Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Tevis will preside. A full attendance of official members is requested.

CAMPAIGN INTO SERVIA ABANDONED

Servian War Office Says Austria is Over Her Aggressiveness After Victories of Serbs.

LIST OF CAPTURES GIVEN

(By United Press)

Nish, Servia, August 24.—The Servian war office announces that Austria has apparently abandoned her aggressive campaign against Servia, following the series of Servian victories all along the Brina river. In this connection the war office issued the following list of captures by the Servian army which has conclusively routed the Austrian attacks:

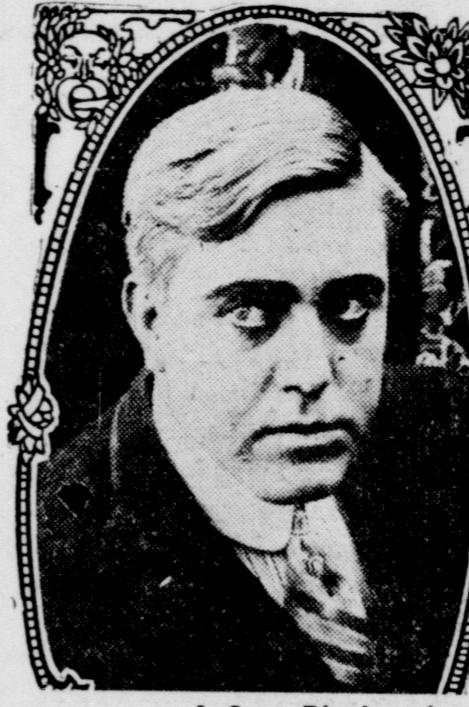

Prisoners, including officers of high rank, 4,500; field guns, 53; field howitzers, 8; chissons, 114.

In addition it is stated that large quantities of field equipment and ammunition fell into the hands of the visitors.

Thomas Humes, member of the board of commissioners, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at Newcastle Saturday while attending a joint meeting of the commissioners of Henry, Fayette and Rush counties, was doing as well as could be expected today. He is still in a serious condition but stood the trip from Newcastle here well.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

A WORLD SCOOP.

(Huntington Herald.)

The manner in which newspapers served by the United Press were able to beat the Associated Press and other newspapers Wednesday afternoon on the news of the death of Pius X was remarkable. Probably no other newspaper man, for many years to come, will be able to obtain such a world-wide "beat" or "scoop" as did Henry Wood.

Between the United Press and the Associated Press there is and for years has been a keen rivalry. The Associated Press looked with jealousy and condescension on the United Press.

When the United Press papers went on the streets Wednesday afternoon, announcing the death of Pius the "A.P." looked about for means of denying the story or disproving some of its details. This spirit seems to have been carried to an extreme, as is shown by the fact that the Indianapolis Star came to Huntington county Thursday morning, containing a two column heading on the front page which said: "Pope Pius Improves and Doctors Think Crisis Has Passed." The Indianapolis News, several hours previously had published the fact that the Pope was dead.

Even in Huntington the news of the death, as contained in the Herald, was denied on the streets, though the Herald had doubled-verified its report before publishing it.

Among the newspaper men of this county, for months to come, the mention of Henry Wood's name will cause admiration for his ability as a reporter, and will cause a smile of tolerance for a great news gathering organization, which has grown so ponderous as to become unwieldy in operation and slightly overburdened with its own complacency.

TO BE TRIED FOR "BOOTLEGGING"

Robert Whalen, Arrested Yesterday For Selling Whiskey on Fair Grounds, Pleads Guilty Today.

TRIAL FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

Robert Whalen was arrested yesterday, charged with "bootlegging," on an affidavit filed by William Edleman. Whalen was arraigned before Mayor Bebout this morning and entered a plea of not guilty. His trial will be held Tuesday night at seven-thirty o'clock.

In the affidavit Edleman alleges that he bought a drink of Whalen yesterday on the fair grounds for fifteen cents. Edleman claims that he gave Whalen one dollar and that he failed to get any change. An argument started, it is said, and as a result the complaint was made against Whalen. The police are under the impression that considerable "bootlegging" was done on the fair grounds yesterday and are watching closely.

ARMY TRANSPORTS MAY NOT BE NEEDED

Indications Today Are American Refugees May be Brought Home By Others Means.

RELIEF BOARD MEETS TODAY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 24.—The general government relief board having charge of moving American war refugees from Europe, met today. Secretary of War Garrison, chairman, said the board might direct that the use of six army transports now being outfitted at Newport News might be found unnecessary because of the use of chartered foreign vessels and the great number returning on English and neutral passenger vessels.

The relief board was disappointed today that France has objected to use of Hamburg-American liners offered voluntarily by the German government for use of Americans abroad by neutralization.

The six transports in Hampton Roads, the Panama Railroad steamer Christobal, the Denver, Kilpatrick, Sumner, City of Macon and City of Memphis, will be ready for service in a few days. Their use will cost $500,000. They will sail, if at all, in pairs.

ARE OPPOSED TO FERRETA

Germany and Austria Let it be Known They Are Against His Election as Pope.

ARMISTICE MAY BE ASKED

(By United Press.)

Rome, Aug. 24.—Despite strict regulations against the exercise of the "Spanish vote," Germany and Austria are said to have already let it be known that the election of Cardinal Ferreta as successor to His Holiness Pope Pius X, would be objectionable to these two nations of the Triple Alliance.

No cardinal may introduce the vote in the conclave upon pain of excommunication, but in view of the European war the generally tangled political condition there is much speculation as to whether nations affected may not seek to exercise it in some other way.

There is a strong movement afoot among the members of the Sacred College to appeal to the warring powers to declare an armistice during the conclave at which the new pope will be elected.

RESIGNATION OF MOSES RECEIVED

Henry Schrader is Elected Candidate For County Assessor by Republican Committee.

HEADQUARTERS TO BE OPENED

Delegates and Alternates to Joint Senatorial Convention Are Named Friday and Saturday.

Henry Schrader, a well known farmer of Jackson township, was selected to take the place of John Moses as the candidate for assessor on the Republican ticket, at a meeting of the central committee Saturday afternoon. Mr. Moses found it impossible to make the race because of ill health and notified the Republican central committee shortly after the county convention.

Henry Schrader readily accepted the place made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Moses. The filling of the place was in accord with the power vested in the central committee. Mr. Moses is the present county assessor, and while many would like to have seen him continue the race, the majority did not desire to force him and his resignation was accepted, although with much regret.

Several matters pertaining to the campaign were discussed at the meeting. It is planned to open headquarters between September 1 and 15. The exact place has not been decided on. The candidates and committeemen will meet here September 2 with the organization committee from Republican state headquarters. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court house. The organization committee from state headquarters will visit the sixth district that week and while it will simply be an organization meeting several of the state candidates will be present.

The following is the complete list of delegates and alternates selected by the different townships to the senatorial convention of the district of Hancock, Fayette and Rush counties to be held in Greenfield September 5.

TO SETTLE TITLE TO LANE

Harvina Ward Files Suit in Court to End Controversy.

A suit has been filed in the circuit court by Harvina Ward against Lucian B. Osborn to quiet title. The purpose of the suit is to determine the ownership of a lane, separating the Ward and Osborn farms, west of the city, over which there has been considerable controversy of late. Several suits have been filed in the justice of peace court over trouble growing out of the ownership of the lane. Mrs. Ward alleges that she holds the title to the property and asks the court to determine the ownership.

WILSON CRACKS WHIP TOO HARD

Democratic Congressmen Are Growing Desperate Under Sting of Chief Executive's Lash

MANY ARE GROWING BITTER

They do Not Like Being Driven to Support of Measures Folks at Home do Not Like

Washington, Aug. 24.—Between the avalanche of letters from the "folks at home," protesting against the Wilson policies and the reported threats of President Wilson and members of his cabinet to punish members who refuse to help put through Wilson policies, many Democratic congressmen are driven almost to desperation.

Not for years has the power of the President and his cabinet been used with such pressure on congressmen as it is now being used by Woodrow Wilson and his two able political assistants, Postmaster General Burleson and Secretary McAdoo. Many appointments are in the hands of these gentlemen and, while nothing is written, congressmen are given to understand distinctly that, if these appointments are to "come through," congressmen must jump at the crack of the executive whip.

Representatives recall that the framers of our country's constitution provided for an executive, a legislative and a judicial branch of government, but the actual working of the government under Wilson is about two-thirds executive. Congressmen have been driven into line by the Wilson whip in the support of measures which they knew their constituents didn't want. Now they are hearing from these constituents. The breaking point has almost come.

Congressman George Kindel, of the First district of Colorado, has formally left the Democratic party and will oppose the Wilson administration.

Mr. Kindel is one congressman from the northwest who has recognized the absolute disregard the present administration and Democratic majority in congress has shown for the interests and industries of the section which he, in part, probably as an independent, for two represents. He will seek re-election, reasons: First, the neglect by the Democratic party for all that there is in the northwest, and second, his evident belief that few Democrats will be elected from the northwest in the coming campaign.

Of President Wilson he says, "The president may know all about the syntax of Greek verbs, but he does not know anything about the practical questions that are confronting the American people. I think the president has done a few good things and I shall support him in those, but, as a general thing I disagree with his methods and policies."

ARCADIANS WIN LISTLESS GAME

Before Very Small Crowd Rushville

Downs Cincinnati Muldoons by Score of 6 to 2.

BACON WILD AT VERY START

Got to Him in First For Four Runs
and Annex Two More in Fifth—Heller Went Good.

In a rather listless game, played before the smallest crowd of the season, the Arcadians defeated the Cincinnati Muldoons yesterday 6 to 2. The Arcadians could not compete with the Rush county fair, which was in full swing, and the result was the smallest crowd ever on the grounds.

The Arcadians scored their runs in two innings, four in the first and the other two in the fifth. The four runs in the fourth would have been enough. But the Arcadians had men on base in every frame but the second and seventh and if the runs had been needed badly enough the chances are that the Arcadians could have gotten them.

Bacon, who proved a lemon at Connersville at the start of the season was in the box for the Muldoons. Bacon got a bad start and later in the game showed that he could pitch by tightening up in the pinches. Bob Long, the Arcadian's regular third baseman missed the train yesterday morning and Manager Davidso made a switch in the line up. The change from all indications did not weaken the team and Long was not missed yesterday. Hellmund was brought from the outfield and placed at third. Badel was sent to the outfield and Sandman placed on first. Sandman is a regular first baseman while Badel always belonged the outfield.

There was nothing much sensational in the game. The Arcadians played real ball behind Heller and won on merit. The Muldoons could not hit Heller when they were needed. The Muldoons were unable to score in the first Reuther and Jung had singled. The Arcadians took advantage of the unsteadiness of Bacon in the opening round and counted four time. Stricker was hit by Bacon and took second when Barton was given a base on balls. Badel singled along the left field foul line and both Barton and Stricker scored. Badel took second on the play to get Barton. Sandman bunted and Pick overthrew first trying to catch him and Badel scored and Sandman took second. Hellmund was the first out, Kaucher to Jung. Hasselback struck out. Goodfellow was safe on Kinderman's error and Sandman scored. Goodfellow was forced by Todd. Kucher to Burbrink.

The Muldoons scored their first run on a long sacrifice fly to center field. Burbrink, first up singled to Badel who let the ball roll away allowing Burbring to take second. Voelker was out Barton to Sandman, Burbrink taking third. Pick lifted a long fly to Badel who was unable to save the run. Bacon was an easy out to Todd.

The Muldoons came back in the third and put across an earned run. Kaucher struck out. Reuther tripped to center field and was brought in by a single to left field by Jung. This ended the run getting for the visitors as they succeeded in getting men on bases only in the fifth and eighth and made only one hit off Heller after the third inning. Heller went better the farther he went and it was one, two three most of the way.

The Arcadians other two runs were the result of an error by Kaucher, third baseman for the Muldoons. Badel was an easy out flying to Burbrink. Sandman singled to right field. Hellmund was hit by Bacon. Hasselback struck out. Goodfellow was a safe on Burbrings error and Sandman and Hellmund advanced. Todd hit to Kaucher at third base and Kaucher threw the ball away allowing both Sandman and Hellmund to score. Heller ended

American Girls' Escape From German War Zone is Thrilling

London, Aug. 24.—The following story of the flight of three American girls from the German war zone was received by the London bureau of the United Press today in a delayed letter from Karl H. Von Wiegand, Berlin correspondent of the United Press:

BY KARL VON WIEGAND

Three American girls—the Misses Marion Park and Katherine Lord of Boston and Miss Ida Landon, of Elmira, N. Y.—went through the thick of the German war zone just as the fatherland was striking its first blow through Belgium. Their stories as told me on a train enroute to Rotterdam were full of praise for the courtesy of German officialdom, civil and military in the first trying days of the war.

We were in the Bavarian Alps when we learned war was imminent said Miss Park. "We started for London via Cologne at once. When we reached Cologne, it was apparent that war was only a matter of hours. Everywhere the greatest activity was apparent and the population was feverish with excitement. From Cologne we reached the little village of Dolhain on the Belgian frontier between Verviers and Aix La Chapelle. The mobilization orders came at that hour, and all trains were turned over to the military. We had to disembark. There was no hotel at Dolhain, so we got a peasant who had a little home in the town to take us in.

"The next morning we walked down the road to the railroad junction and met what seemed to us to be the entire German army advancing on Belgium. Throughout the entire day thousands of men swung through the little village. That night we began to hear the roar of cannon as the Germans opened their attack on Liege. The roar continued all through the night—and almost as though the interruption during the next three days. There was a cessation, the very stillness after such a din was indescribably impressive. We felt we were in the very path of the war. Liege was only a few miles distant. We were in touch with the soldiers constantly. On the very first day we were in Dolhain they assured us we would not be delayed. They all seemed confident there would be

Are Women Naturally Despondent?
A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system which expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backache, headaches, causing constant misery and a result despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable-Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, is the one great remedy for this condition. It goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes despondency.

GERMANS MAY MOVE TO WEST

Latest Movements Indicate General Staff Intends to Start Army Towards Allies

OVERSIGHT BY THE ALLIES

If They Have Failed to Defend Route to Paris, They May Have Trou- ble Facing About Now.

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 24.—The appearance of German Skirmishers at Audenarde is an astonishing adventure coming only a few hours after the capture of Brussels. It is a move of possibly great significance, indicating the general German staff has under consideration the dangerous expedition of moving westward from Brussels to the north of the position of the allies.

This is the route the German army would have followed had there been no interruption at the Meuse river. The line of march runs almost due west from the Belgian frontier to Brussels and continues in a straight line to Audenarde. Here the main road turns to the Southwest and proceeds to the frontier gap north west of Lille, where the march over French soil to Paris was planned to begin.

If the allies have done nothing to defend this route it may go very hard as the military will have to face about, if, as is generally believed their position looks toward the east. And turning a defensive front is a difficult maneuver.

Antwerp is too far away seriously to threaten the flank of a German northern advance if it extends no further north than the line between Belgium and Ardenaude. Should this drive to the west, along the northern route synchronize with a German frontal movement along a line from Namur to Brussels, the allies would be caught in a vice, and forced to face two fronts at once.

The situation undoubtedly possesses dangerous features for the allies. Their main position is somewhere in the angle Audenarde-Brussels-Namur. German strategy, prevented apparently at Dinant from delivering a southern attack in force, now seems to be developing simultaneous northern and eastern movements which, if successful, will squeeze the allies to the Southwest into France, leaving the kaiser master of Belgium.

The suggestion in this column Saturday that the French Lorraine advance into the lion's mouth had felt the lion's death and had retired, is borne out by French official reports. The strategy in that district is very puzzling. It seems as if the French had not taken into full consideration the highly dangerous area of Metz-Sarrebruck-Strassburg. Their movements during the week have been on the par with those of the duke of York who marched his men up a hill and marched them down again.

SAID TO HAVE MAN PICKED

Reported Newton Newbold Will be Next Poor Asylum Head.

Rumor has it that Newton Newbold, living a short distance south of the city, is slated for the appointment as superintendent of the county poor asylum by the county board of commissioners. The place will be vacant the first of September, when John W. Humes' term expires. The commissioners will probably make the appointment before the first of September. It is said that Mr. Humes was offered reappointment at an increase in salary, but that he refused. The commissioners will meet the last day of August.

"Although we were in the center of things, we can only testify to the greatest courtesy and consideration of every German with whom we came in contact. Despite congestion at the railroad stations, the officials were never too busy to help us, and the soldiers gave us the kindest treatment. It's an experience we wouldn't want again and yet wouldn't have missed for worlds."

HOME PROJECT IS THE THING

Adds Interest to School Work, Says

Z. M. Smith, in Charge of Boys' and Girls' Work at Purdue.

SUPPLIES CONNECTING LINK

Mr. Smith Prepares Bulletin on Prevocational Agricultural Work in the Public Schools.

"Home project is the thing," says Z. M. Smith, assistant in Boys' and Girls' Club Work at Purdue University and also State Supervisor of Agricultural Education. "The home project adds interest to the school work and affords an excellent means through which school training may function with real home and home farm conditions. It supplies one of the best connecting links between the home and the school. A close relation between these two institutions is absolutely necessary to good school work in agriculture."

A bulletin has just been issued by the state superintendent of public instruction on prevocational agricultural work for the public schools of Indiana for the coming year. It has been prepared by Mr. Smith of Purdue University and the bulletin emphasizes the fact that the new education consists of "doing" rather than reading about doing." What is urged is soil testing boxes, grain grading boards, chicken coops with chickens in them, home plats of ground or responsibility for certain stock, rather than school books.

"It is but natural," says Supervisor Smith, referring to home crop raising and stock handling projects, "that problems will arise and experiments will be met with in connection with the assigned topics in the state course, which will form the basis for class discussions. This not saying that books should not be used. It is not advisable, however, that each member of the class buy the same kind of text book. If the subject be animal husbandry, there should be several different books on animal husbandry."

The requirements are now for agricultural courses to be given in the seventh and eighth grades, and as an elective in high schools. The minimum time in the seventh and eighth grades is two regular class periods each week, but schools that can give more time are expected to do so. Schools are urged not to do more than they can do well. Six subjects are offered by the state board for this year. They are soils, crops, animal husbandry, dairying, horticulture and poultry.

"Those giving the minimum time should take up only one of the subjects," says Mr. Smith, who is insistent on limitations to what can be done effectively. "County superintendents should make the selection of courses and be guided by the agricultural interests of the county or township."

Mr. Smith strongly approves the policy already adopted by some Indiana townships, of having township supervisors. He points to the fact that they should be twelve-month instead of six or nine-month service men. At all events they should be ordinary school vocation period. The idea is to study theory by practical methods during the winter, and then apply that theory to the soils and crops and to poultry and livestock handling in the spring, summer and fall. The underlying principle is to "do things instead of just reading about them."

The outlined work for the Indiana schools makes the father and mother, and others in the home, a part of the school educational equipment. Experiments are to be made at home and reported to the school for discussion, and theory and laboratory tests are to be taken home and talked over with father, the hired man and with mother. From beginning to end Mr. Smith has followed out the idea of the overthrow of the old school idea.

Faith in Success of Triple Entente
Over Triple Alliance is Illustrated

BY WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, (by mail to New York), Aug. 24.—Faith in the ultimate success of the ententes against the alliance is utmost here. Here is a story illustrating the unwavering confidence manifested everywhere:

Felix Dumesnil aged 8, lives in the apartment under that I occupy. The first day of the French mobilization, his father was called to the colors. As each reservist was called to report at some particular point, I asked:

"Felix, where is your father going?"

"To Berlin," the French boy replied, quite as if Berlin was just across the street.

In the early day of the mobilization the oldest and most alarming spectacles in Paris, was the run on grocery stores. These were literally besieged by foresighted people who love to eat. Thursday and Friday following the call to the colors, those places of business had doubled and trebled their forces and even then visiting lists of people desiring to be served were seen. Police had to be called to preserve order. Spaces were roped off and inside these people waited patiently for hours for a chance to buy.

The idea was clear enough. Fearing a food shortage they wanted to lay in a supply. The period of mobilization had been calculated at 21 days—that was the popular idea any way—and during those days all the trains and all the trucks and most of the wagons would be in use hauling the army off to fight. Paris would have to "live on her fat" for the mobilization period—and it must not be forgotten that Frenchmen love to eat.

So they bought Irish potatoes, noodles and similar dried pastes, smoked or otherwise cured meats, sausages and what nots; dried peas after the evening's excursion. But the offers were all met with a polite but firm refusal. The young woman is an exceptionally clever dancer. And she is always willing to dance with any man who asks her. It is seldom that she misses a dance, unless she hides out.

War, even the greatest in the history of the world, couldn't keep King Baseball off the front pages of the late afternoon editions of New York newspapers very long. During the first few days of the war, baseball was completely forgotten. War news covered the front pages. After a few days when the war news was scarce, the censors getting in their work, baseball and race results began to creep back in the front pages. For a few days their notice was small but gradually the notices grew larger until soon they were filling their customary space.

One of the few humorous aspects of the great European war, seen here, was the mad rash of foreigners to become Americans. Immediately following the first declaration of war in the gigantic struggle the bureau of naturalization here was fairly swamped with applications and they have been coming every day since.

The foreigners hope, by filling their desire to become an American citizen, they may escape compulsory military service in their native lands. Whether they will or not is a legal point that has not been threshed out.

and beans, concentrated soups, condensed milk coffee, tea and coca, sugar—and above all salt. They did not forget salt. Paris has not yet forgotten that siege back in 1871 and her children have heard what it means not to have salt.

The money panic added to the family provider's troubles. Many people, after standing six or eight hours awaiting their turn at the busy clerks made their purchases with due care and judgment and tendered payment in the form, say, of a 100 franc note ($20).

"You haven't the change?" the clerk would demand.

"That's all I have," the customer would reply.

"Then Monsieur will have to leave the merchandise," and the clerk would turn away and wait on another customer.

The clerk meant exactly what he said. He was as inexorable as the Chinaman whose motto was "No tickie no washee." Two or three days before the mobilization order, change had been next to impossible and even the biggest restaurants refused to change anything bigger than a $4 gold piece—and they changed this because gold was at a premium.

Incidentally the famous Bank of France did not measure up to expectations. Early Friday it was announced that millions and millions of money in silver and in five and twenty francs paper—emergency tender—was in the bank ready for distribution. The paper money, it was said, would not be issued until the worst came. Later in the same day it was announced that the paper would be issued Monday. Then it was stated it would be issued Saturday—the very next morning.

A run on the bank followed—a run for money small enough to be spent for change—the strangest run ever witnessed.

BUGGIES LOCK WHEELS

Wheel on Raymond Sharps' Buggy Smashed at Fair Ground.

A buggy in which Fred Herdspath, colored, rode, ran into a buggy occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sharp and family on the fair grounds yesterday afternoon and only the presence of a number of men presented the Sharp vehicle from being turned over. The wheels of the buggies locked when Herdspath attempted to pass Sharps. He did not stop his horse until some men got to its head. Others held up Sharps' buggy and kept it from turning over. A wheel on Sharps' buggy was smashed.

WHEEL DEMOLISHED BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Charles Rosencrance, Son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rosencrance, Narrowly Escapes Injury.

WALTER PEARCE DRIVES AUTO

Charles Rosencrance, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rosencrance, narrowly escaped serious injury Saturday evening at the intersection of Main and Ninth streets. The bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile driven by Walter Pearce of West Ninth street. The wheel, which belonged to Laverne Moore of North Perkins street, was demolished and the Rosencrance boy was thrown heavily to the ground.

The accident happened about seven-thirty o'clock or shortly after the collision between the Gordon and Ball automobiles at the corner of Seventh and Main streets. The boy was riding north in Main street and had just passed Ninth street when the automobile came out of Ninth street from the west. The machine made a wide turn and crashed into the wheel from behind.

AUTOS COLLIDE AT STREET CROSSING

Mrs. William Gordon is Thrown Out of Machine Driven by Her Son and Painfully Hurt.

THE CARS ARE BOTH DAMAGED

Mrs. William Gordon, an aged resident of this city, was painfully injured Saturday night at seven o'clock when the automobile in which she was riding, driven by her son, Guy Gordon, collided with the machine driven by Merrill Ball. The accident occurred at the corner of Main and Seventh streets. Mrs. Gordon was thrown to the pavement and sustained several cuts about the head but was not seriously hurt.

The Gordon machine was going north in Main street and Merrill Ball was coming out of Seventh street into Main street. The men tried to avoid the accident and Ball attempted to pull around but Gordon's machine hit it. Both automobiles were considerably damaged. The right front wheel of the Ball machine was bent and crushed and the radiator of the Gordon machine was smashed. Mrs. Gordon was taken into the home of L. H. Havens and received medical attention.

Mrs. Ora Wilson, formerly of this city, suffered a sudden attack of appendicitis Saturday in Washington, C. H., Ohio, and an operation was necessary. For a time it was feared she could not live as gangrene complications arose. Will and Charles Frazee, brothers of Mrs. Wilson went to Washington C. H., Sunday afternoon and word from there this morning stated that she was better and had a chance to recover.

ASK VIEWERS FOR ANOTHER REPORT

Joint Meeting of Commissioners at Newcastle Saturday Takes Action on Road.

FAYETTE MAN DIDN'T SIGN

At the joint meeting of the commissioners of Fayette, Henry and Rush counties, held Saturday in Newcastle, which terminated suddenly when Thomas Humes, commissioner from this county, suffered a stroke of paralysis, it was decided to send the report on the road, which the commissioners were considering, back to the viewers, asking them to make a second report. All of the business has been practically completed when Mr. Humes was stricken. The Fayette county viewer has never signed a report either for or against the road and the commissioners ordered that the report be sent back with the direction that it be signed or a minority report made. The two viewers are from Rush and Fayette county and the engineer is from Henry county. The Rush county viewer and the engineer reported favorably on the road while the Fayette county man did not sign any kind of a report.

WANTS TO CONSULT WOMEN WEDNESDAY

Mrs. R. H. Strong Would Like to Explain Women's Work Exhibit at Panama Exposition.

WILL BE AT FAIR GROUNDS

Mrs. R. H. Strong, superintendent of woman's work department at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, will meet Rush county women who are interested at the rest tent on the fair grounds just east of the secretary's office Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. Mrs. Strong is desirous that Indiana be well represented in this department at the exposition and is anxious that there be an exhibit from every county in the state. She is making the rounds of the county fairs to meet the women and explain the rules and regulations governing the exhibit.

All needle or handmade work of any sort that excels or is above the ordinary will be acceptable. Mrs. Strong states in a letter she has written here. She urges that all women interested attend and says that it will require but a short time for her to make an explanation.
